Elderly discounts Monday

DUBLIN — Happy Valentines Day! The senior citizen gold card discount program will go into operation officially Monday, Feb. 14, in the Livermore Amador Valley.

The program was initiated by the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) last year. It gained support from local chambers of commerce and the Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA).

Gold cards and a list of participating merchants will be available to seniors age 62 and over. They may be picked up at the following locations and times:

(Dublin) Shannon Park Community Center, 11600 Shannon Ave., 828-7711, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Gold Card program

Dublin Chamber of Commerce, 7996 Amador Valley Blvd., 828-6200, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

(Pleasanton) City Offices, Recreation Department, 200 Bernal Ave., 846-3202, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

(Livermore) Livermore Senior Service Center, 8th and South H, 443-1150, Friday from 2 to 4 p.m.

About 700 Livermore seniors picked up gold cards Feb. 1. They will need to return Feb. 14 to pick up their list of participating merchants, according to VCSD officials.

This gold card discount program was initiated to find merchants, organizations and services interested in offering elderly citizens a savings or special privilege to help supplement fixed incomes.

To prove eligibility of age, a senior may show a birth certificate, driver's license, insurance policy, Medicare card or other similar official record.

This program is patterned after the national Gold Card arrangement. The system is designed to eliminate the profusion of individual cards now carried by seniors.

Good Times were good and costly

PLEASANTON — Radio Station KNBR officials yesterday were not sure whether there will be a Good Times Roll Parade this year, though one thing is certain — this city won't host the parade if it is held.

The city council voted 4-0 Monday night (William Herlihy absent) to notify KNBR that it no longer wishes to host the parade. The celebration has cost the city money in overtime labor and officials thought that the parade has outgrown the city's ability to handle it.

Isabelle Lemon, the radio station's director of advertising and promotion, said yesterday that KNBR top brass must confer on what will happen to the parade this year. Lemon had talked to Philcox during the past few weeks and was aware of the city council's concern, but has not received the letter from Philcox yet.

The parade traditionally has been held in the spring and requires a few months of planning.

Pleasanton was one of 24 cities which applied to KNBR to hold the first parade in 1974, largely at the inspiration of then mayor Ed Kinney.

In declining the honor of hosting the fourth annual Good Times parade, the council made it clear that the event is fun, but has been a drain on city services and could even pose some insurance liability problems in the future.

"Suppose a tipsy driver in the parade ran into some people at the curb," said Council Member Ken Mercer. He claimed that the crowds get unruly sometimes and "may try to climb the facade of the Pleasanton Hotel".

Merchants have complained in the past that they get nickel and dime business from the big influx of outsiders, but have to put up with the nuisance of youths overloading their building's roofs and committing vandalism.

Herlihy told The Times yesterday he agrees with the council's action. "Our resources were being taxed to the maximum," said Herlihy. "It got so that we had no police reserves left on parade day. Let some other city share in the joy of the KNBR parade."

Lemon said she realized the parade was "a burden on the city with the big influx of people, but it was also a great thing for the city and KNBR. The Jaycees (who helped organize the event) were fantastic and we've enjoyed the parades."

Teachers vs district, box score

The paucity of negotiations over contract in the Amador Valley Joint High School District has reached the crisis stage.

Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association leader Dave Woolworth affirmed this in a widely - circulated statement last week, and in comments to newspapers yesterday.

Administration and teacher negotiating teams appear to be at odds, principally, on salary increase.

In his statement of last week, Woolworth said "strike action has not and is not advocated by our teachers, but when all other means of settlement have been exhausted, it remains as the last and only recourse to this lingering contract problem."

Woolworth made the statement in referring to AVSEA joining a "joint, united effort with the other valley teacher associations and classified personnel to bargain effectively with the apparent united valley school district administrations.

Listed below are the latest offers and positions taken by representatives of administration and, Amador teachers:

ADMINISTRATION:

SALARY — 3.6 per cent salary, plus 3.6 step and column.

BENEFITS — .68 per cent, plus .80 per cent contribution to teacher retirement.

AGENCY SHOP — No agency shop.

BINDING ARBITRATION— Advisory-form of binding arbitration of grievances. School board would determine, based on individual merits of each case, whether it would go to full binding arbitration.

AMADOR DIST. TEACHERS

SALARY — 3.6 per cent offered by administration last week and turned down by negotiating unit.

BENEFITS — Maintenance of current benefits, at least. Seeking a .68 per cent increase.

AGENCY SHOP — Support need for agency shop. Woolworth says this point "has not even been discussed in the most recent negotiating sessions."

BINDING ARBITRATION— Support full binding arbitration of grievances.

Part of the madness surrounding Good Times in Pleasanton

Council won't boycott Coffee break rejected

PLEASANTON — A majority of city council members turned down Margaret Blackstone's request to declare March "Anything But Coffee Month" Monday night.

Blackstone attended the city council neighborhood meeting at Fairlands School and said that local citizens have to go to local public officials and ask them to help carry the ball in the fight against rising coffee prices.

Only Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire was willing to proclaim a coffee boycott month, noting that more frivolous things like national brides week have been proclaimed by the local city council.

Mayor Robert Philcox and Council Members Frank Brandes and Ken Mercer said they would sign Blackstone's anti - coffee petition as individuals, but they felt that it was not a council's business to get involved in the coffee war.

"i don't know if the city council was elected to take a stand on boycotting coffee," said Mercer. "The next person may want us to boycott the Pleasanton Hotel."

"But few people would want you to do that," said Blackstone. "You endorse fun and game things. The city council is not afraid of proclaiming 'Good Times Roll' week when the parade is held here."

"I agree with Mercer," said Brandes. "There is a proper place for boycotts and it's not the place of the city council to support it."

"I didn't come out and say 'don't buy lettuce' or 'don't buy grapes' and I don't think I could do that for coffee, either," said Philcox.

"I'll support anything in the fight against inflaton," said LeClaire. "I remember the beef boycott. It had an impact. That was a voluntary thing. All the attention that can be brought to this is worthwhile. I can't object after we have proclaimed bride's week."

Pressure against coffee purchases caused the coffee industry to call off a $9 million advertising campaign to try to convince people to keep buying coffee, said Blackstone. However, she heard the industry ow is cranking up a $50 million campaign with the same purpose.

"If we can't go to our local leaders for support, who else can we go to for support," said Blackstone. "We have to show manufacturers of other products that they can't manipulate the laws of supply and demand."

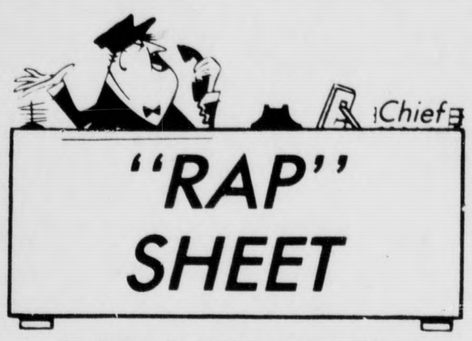
Clean-up crews spent several hours trying to clear the freight from the highway.



Resident nabs brglary suspect in home

ALAMO — An Alamo man held a burglary suspect at bay with an unloaded shotgun after he found him in his kitchen Monday.

Forrest Craven, whose Darlington Court home had been burglarized the previous week, decided to stay home Monday, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Craven heard someone in the garage about 10 a.m. He then found two young men entering his kitchen. He confronted them with the shotgun and started to dial police. One of the suspects fled at this point, but the other remained.

The suspects allegedly used a key kept on the shelf in the garage to gain entrance to the kitchen. Craven reported that the key had been used in the previous burlgary also.

Taken into custody was 19-year-old Lloyd Lorenzo Burton, 19. Sheriff's deputies reported Burton had $12,500 worth of outstanding warrants against him on previous charges of burglary, armed robbery and car theft.

Murray gets Crockett mgr.

Darrel Carter, presently business manager of the John Swett Unified School District in Crockett, will take over the reins of the Murray School District business operations effective March 1.

The 39-year old Carter's selection was announced Tuesday by Heinz Gewing, acting superintendent, and followed confirmation by the school board Monday night.

Carter will replace Phillip Chubb who left the district in November to take advantage of early retirement.

Business manager of the kindergarten through 12th grade northern Contra Costa County district the past 3½ years, Carter's starting salary with Murray will be $25,548.

The appointment ends an extended search that began last fall, was aborted when the initial finalists were all turned down, and started again in January.

Prior to his association with the John Swett district, Carter served as an administrative assistant on the business affairs staff at San Jose State University from 1968 to 1973.

He was a sporting goods store manager in Santa Clara from 1966-68 and office manager for Santa Rosa Brass and Bronze Foundry from 1964 to 68.

Carter was born in San Rafael, took courses in real estate for two years at College of Marin and received a B.A. degree in administration and accounting in 1973 from San Jose State.

Carter succeeds Chubb who took the place of Stan Berk in the Murray district business operation.

He will be involved almost immediately with several major tasks, including prospective sale of two district properties, cost of converting Frederiksen School to seventh-eighth grade, the Dublin School pool area and the possibility of moving portables within the district.

Carter marked his 39th birthday January 16. He is married and the father of children ages 15, 13, and 9.

Trustees also set the renumeration rates for Dr. Donald Leu who, along with a two-person professional screening committee, will seek out candidates for superintendent.

Leu, an administrator in the education department at San Jose State University, will be paid $175 per day for not to exceed 17 days of seeking out superintendent candidates. This amounts to a maximum of $2,975.

In addition, screening committee members will be paid the same rate not to exceed seven days or a maximum of $1,225. The two-person committee to work with Leu will come from outside the district and include professional educators.

Two other costs to the district were approved by the board.

Up to $2,000 was okayed for visitation by board members to the home districts of finalists, and a sum of $150 for publishing a brochure listing criteria for selection of a superintendent.

The position will be advertised in diverse education professional journals, at colleges and at education conventions.

Only candidates from the state of California will be considered.

Preliminary screening by the three-person committee will be completed by April 30. Three to five finalists will be selected from applicants to be interviewed at the Murray district offices in May. Final selection is expected by the first week in June.

A district advisory committee for selection of a superintendent will be formed later this month and be comprised of two parents, two teachers, two administrators, and two members of the classified staff. —by Al Fischer

Council reopens city park pool

PLEASANTON — The city council voted 4-1 last night to reopen the swimming pool at Amador Community Park.

Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire cast the lone dissenting vote, arguing that keeping the pool closed is the least the city could do to help alleviate the real misery of people suffering from the cold weather in the East.

Director of Recreation and Human Resources Robert Caporusso also stated that he did not agree with the council's action in reopening the pool. When the state Public Utilities Commission ordered swimming pools closed last week except for medical users, Caporusso ordered the pools shut down. He said last night he stood by that action and saw no reason to change it.

The Amador High School pool, closed a couple of days ago, will remain shut down. The school's boys swimming team, which competes in the East Bay Athletic League, will use the city's pool. Caporusso worked out a schedule for sharing the pool between the high school swim team, the local AAU swim team and various adult recreation swimming classes.

In voting to reopen the pool, some of the council members stated they were not happy with the way the PUC handled the whole thing. The city went along with the PUC's hard line ordering all pools closed and when the PUC softened its stand to allow local decisions to reopen some pools, it was like "being left hung out on a line to dry," said Council Member Ken Mercer.

Council Member William Herlihy's first thoghts were that the city council should not reopen the pool. The natural gas shortage is real and there is not an unlimited supply of it. But he voted with the majority, saying that the savings in Pleasanton would not amount to much if few other cities join the action. What's really needed is a national energy policy so that all cities comply and real savings are effected, he said.

On another item, the council voted to appropriate $30,000 as the city's share of a study of six or seven alternatives about what to do with the Valley's treated sewer effluent. Herlihy was the lone opponent of the vote. He thought the study would just repeat what already has been studied by the Livermore Amador Valley Water Management Agency.

Mayor Robert Philcox said that there are more alternatives available now than when the earlier study was done and things look much brighter now for the idea of recycling some of the waste effluent.

Fair operation probe pondered

PLEASANTON —The office of Roland Mayne, assistant to the county administrator, will conduct the probe of the County Fair Association, with emphasis on operations and makeup of the fair board.

County Supervisor Valerie Raymond and Fred Cooper were appointed last month to conduct an investigation of the fair association.

The report is due in to supervisors February 25.

Last night, fair directors registered their intention of seeking renewal of the Association - County contract which expires in October.

Director Tom Kitayama said the contract would aid the fair in its relations with concessionaires.

Supervisor Raymond met with Secretary - Manager Lee Hall and six directors Monday to discuss operations.

Hall said Mrs. Raymond requested information on rental fees and use of facilities.

Supervisors, previously, indicated long time board members should be phased out with members of an advisory committee to eventually take their places. The advisory panel has not been established yet.

At present, seven members of a 21-person board have been appointed by supervisors.

In other business, Hall said the Sonoma County Fair will file a protest to the proposal that a four-week night harness racing season be held this summer at Golden Gate Fields.

The local fair has already expressed opposition to such a season.

2,500 acres Preserve land OK'd

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — More than 2,500 acres of agricultural land in the Valley were approved for inclusion in the Williamson Act "agricultural preserve" by county supervisors yesterday.

The lands approved include:

Velma Miller, Verda George and Vincent Cowell, 720 acres on Cedar Mountain Ridge between Mines Road and the Arroyo del Valle.

Eathel Diana and Eathel W. Hammond, 182 acres, south side Mines Road, 10 miles southeast of Livermore.

Nihon Kaihatsu Co., 82 acres south of Happy Valley Road and east of I-680, about three miles south of Pleasanton.

Estana, Inc., 43 acres south of Happy Valley Road and east of I-680 about three miles south of Pleasanton, adjacent to the Nihon Kaihatsu Co., land.

Philip C., Maxine L., Kenneth P. and Marie E. Ernst, 51 acres east of Livermore on the north side of Tesla Road south of South Vasco Road.

Ralph Howell Condit, 24 acres on the South Bay Aqueduct, southwest of the East Avenue — Greenville Road intersection, about 3½ miles east of Livermore.

Greenville Land Association, 25 acres between the South Bay Aqueduct and Greenville Road, about four miles east of Livermore.

Marie Gomes Farms, Inc., 1,050 acres south of I-580 about eight miles east — northeast of Livermore.

Marvin O. and Marshal L. McMannon, 20 acres on the south side of Welch Creek Road, about 6½ miles southeast of Sunol.

Harold, Lloyd and Roy Moller, 363 acres on the east side of Tassajara Road along the Contra Costa County line, about five miles northeast of Pleasanton.

The application of Alfred and Nola Whitney to put their 19 acre parcel at 8580 Tesla Road into a preserve was continued a week pending inspection by supervisors Valerie Raymond and Charles Santana.

The board has a policy of denying Williamson Act coverage to lots of less than 20 acres, unless the owners can show the lands are used for intensive agricultural production.

Dublin may warm up

DUBLIN — There's a chance area residents may be able to get back in the swim of things if the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) feels justified in reopening the Valley Community Swim Center in accordance with a new ruling being proposed by the Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

"We would like to open the pool in the next five minutes if we get authorization to do so," said Chuck Ladner, VCSD president. "The only reason we closed it was to comply with a PUC order that no pools could be kept heated except for medical reasons. We know it is a hardship on swimmers to have it closed. All we were doing was following instructions to help conserve fuel for those who needed it more."

If the new PUC proposal is approved, minimal swimming programs conducted by schools and public agencies will be allowed.

Robert Batinovich, PUC president, notified mayors by letter to use their own judgement regarding keeping pools open in their individual cities. He asked them to base their decisions on good citizenship and the need to conserve gas.

Nationally top-rated swimmers in the Norcal Aquatics Club in Dublin expressed their disapproval over the closing of the Valley Community Swim Center at Dublin High School. They said they would not be able to practice which would put them at an unfair advantage in competition swimming.

Dublin High School students interested in swimming also feel the loss of the pool, according to a local citizen.

"If the pool remains closed, students in their senior year may lose the chance to pick up a scholarship," the lady said.

There it goes

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — You may not like your property tax bill, but in the future at least you'll know where the money goes.

This October's tax mailing will reintroduce the county's discontinued "tax bill insert" that explains where tax money is spent and how it is collected. It will be patterned after one used in neighboring Santa Clara County.

Some 300,000 inserts will be printed and stuffed into the bills at an estimated cost of $1,500 to $2,000.

Homeowners' exemption and senior citizen property tax relief information will be included, along with a breakdown of the county's share of taxes — where the money comes from and how it is allocated.

Explanations of assessment rates and the appeals process along with a message from county supervisors explaining "significant budgetary changes" also will be shown.

Along with an admonition "not to fold, staple or mutilate the tax bill."

Teachers set pact deadline

LIVERMORE — If negotiations between Livermore Unified School District teachers and board are not settled by Monday, the teachers may strike.

Livermore Education Association President Barbara Brunke didn't spell it out, but she did say last night LEA has set a March 1 deadline for having the contract ratified and has requested all-weekend negotiations. She said the contract should be finalized by Monday in order to have it printed, distributed, voted on by LEA's 500 members and ratified by their self-imposed deadline.

LEA officials set the deadline yesterday evening in the wake of a cancelled school board meeting. Of the trustees, only Manuel Prado and Betty Carrell were able to make it for the meeting, at which negotiations would have been discussed. The session is rescheduled for noon today.

Teachers blamed the board for "definite, deliberate delaying." Brunke complained, "they don't give the negotiator enough power to make a good settlement without holding his hand."

Because of the delayed school board meeting, today's negotiations were cancelled.

What to do with old ties . . .

The rattling of trains over weather worn railroad ties cry out for new foundations for those tracks that glimmer in the sun.

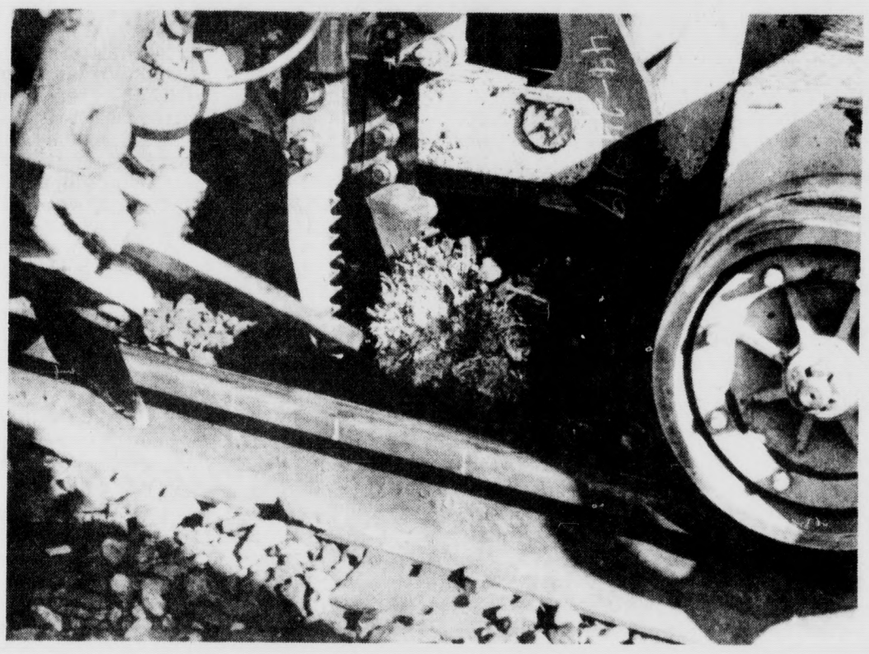
No longer do crews do it all by hand. An army of men and machinery tackle the replacement job in a more efficient, modern method.

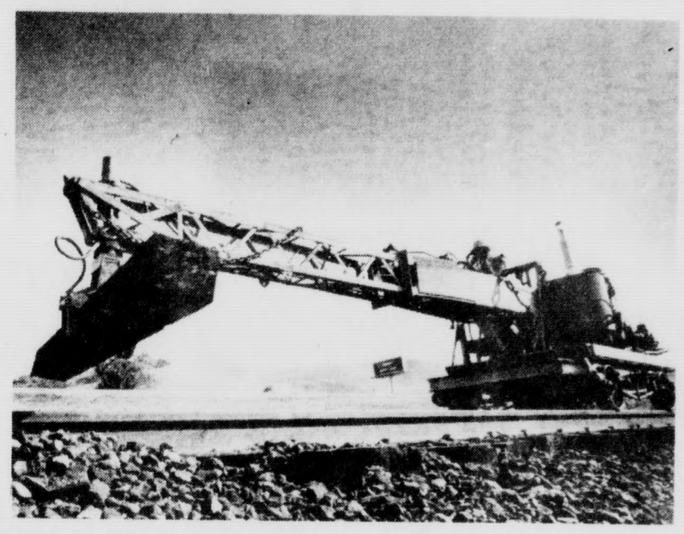
One machine's "teeth" grinds the old ties loose from their resting bed (below); another comes along to "kick" the loose ends from under the rail.

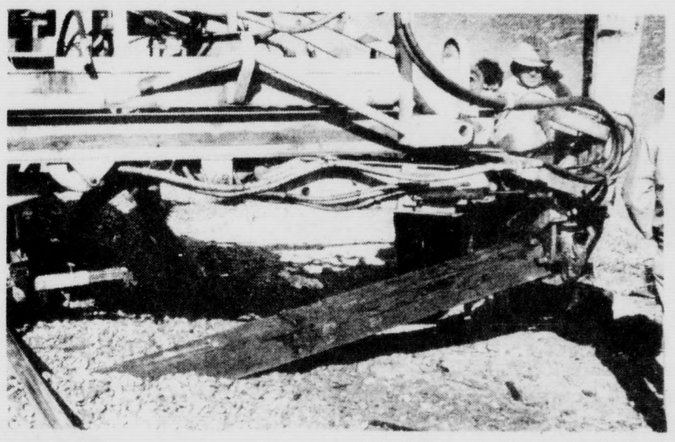
A "router" kicks up the rocks from the railroad bed to make room for the new ties, which are brought in on huge cranes riding the track (right).

Last step calls for another specialized piece of machinery to shove the new wood into place before the work crew goes further down the line.

This Western Pacific crew started in the Sunol area two weeks ago and worked their way towards Livermore.







School report on detectors

PLEASANTON— Amador Valley Joint High School District board members last night received a heat and smoke detection systems report, accepted the Amador Valley High library addition and adopted a course and textbook list.

Also considered was a food service agreement with the Murray School District, as outlined by Robert Renard, food services director. The district would prepare and deliver hot lunches to Murray schools starting April 11.

A host of policy matters underwent second readings including parental and pupil complaints and rights of review, accident and emergency illness, and authorization for attending meetings and conferences (by staff and board members).

Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services, reported that concrete for six lighting pole bases at the Foothill High School field will be poured by the end of this week. The project is 30 per cent complete, Rose stated.

The board also acted on requests by the Amador Valley and Foothill bands for out-of-state trips. The Foothill group will attend a music festival at Reno, Nevada.

The district received a letter from John R. Eales, office of curriculum services, state Department of Education, complimenting Gary Cochran, acting principal at Valley High School, on his "very competent job" since principal Sam Ramey became ill. "I was also very favorably impressed by the staff.

OAKLAND — Richard Blair's efforts to get a septic tank permit have landed him — and county supervisors — between a rock and a legal hard place.

And the Valley's new representative Valerie Raymond, will have no part of it.

Blair thought the board lifted a septic tank ban for his property in the Happy Valley area outside Pleasanton last year when it approved a permit for neighbor Anton Pimintel's parcel.

He had been told by "a former member of the board" that there would be "no problem," he told supervisors yesterday.

Not so, says deputy county counsel Tom Fennone.

Fennone went to taped transcripts of last November's proceedings to get his findings.

The board, according to his memo, legally ruled only on the Pimintel property. But "There is no doubt . . . the board intended to take a similar action on another parcel."

"One board member (Joseph Bort) then moved the granting of the Pimintel appeal and indicated that this action of the board should apply '. . . to other parcels down on the corner,' " says Fennone. But the only action legally before it was the Pimintel piece.

When the board approved the Pimintel septic tank "only two remaining lots could apply for septic tanks.

One of those is Blair's at 970 Happy Valley Rd.

Now health department officials object because the Blair lot "hit an artesian well at 30 feet below the surface," according to director Gerald Winn.

But Blair told the board the well had been capped and another drilled to 150 feet. The land also passed the percolation tests.

"If I had been on the board (in November), I wouldn't have voted for lifting the septic tank freeze on the other property," said Raymond. "I think I'll abstain and let you three (board members) handle it."

Assured of denial yesterday without Bort's vote, Blair will be back March 1 to re - argue his case.

Doctors practice near bus

Public transportation — namely, the BART bus — will take most Valley residents to within a reasonable walk of their doctor or dentist, according to a study made by BART director Robert Allen of Livermore.

"Seven of every eight Tri - Valley doctors and dentists have offices within one - third mile of an all - day BART bus stop," Allen announced in a recent news release.

"Many are much closer. Sixty - four of 73 MD's and 65 of 74 dentists, for example, are thus located but a short walk from a U or D bus stop."

BART's U line runs from Livermore to Hayward BART station via Pleasanton and Dublin. The D line runs from Dublin to Walnut Creek. Throughout the day, buses run once an hour, with extra service (plus UL and UP to Bay Fair BART) during commute hours. U and D buses are timed to connect closely at Dublin.

Allen suggests keeping the following list for easy reference:

Valley Memorial Hospital, Livermore: U or UL bus to Stanley and Holmes; stop is near hospital.

Family Medical Center of Valley Memorial Hospital, San Ramon: D bus to Village Parkway and Alcosta Boulevard. Short walk to center.

Medical Laboratory of Valley Memorial Hospital, Pleasanton: U bus to Santa Rita and Black. Short walk to lab on Cedarwood.

Kaiser Hospital, Walnut Creek: D bus to Main and Newll; stop is at hospital.

Kaiser Hospital, Hayward: U bus to Hayward BART; AC bus 90,91 or 92 to hospital.

Alameda County Valley Health Care Center, Pleasanton: U bus to Hopyard and Las Positas; stop is near center.

FARES: within the Valley, 25 center for adults, 10 cents for the elderly, handicapped and children 5 through 12. Fares to other points double that amount. Exact fare needed as drivers carry no change.

FREE TRANSFERS between U and D lines and to (but not from) AC Transit buses. Patrons should request transfers when boarding bus.

Architects Ron Gammill, standing, and Sandy Hirschen, seated, reviewed service center plans.

Spare those trees

When Elba Leonard's story of attempts to save his trees and bushes from Livermore city hall condemnation appeared in The Times, he didn't realize the support he would get. Dozens of people called urging him to continue the fight to save his corner from getting sliced for extension of Railroad Avenue. Someone came at night to kick down the city - placed stakes and install "Keep Out" and "No Trespassing" signs. Then, with his friend Paul Tull, right, Leonard erected this sign to show city government what he thought of it. (Times photo by Neil Heilpern)

Split vote approves sister city funding

LIVERMORE — With two sister city organizations in town, the council decided on a 3-2 split vote Monday to establish a special budgetary allotment for travel to the foreign cities.

Suggested by Councilman John Staey, the fund would not have specific designations for spending, but would be used at the discretion of the council.

When council approved a second sister city alliance with Yotsukaido, Japan, several weeks ago, there was talk of ending the two $800 travel allotments for a city official and member of the first sister city organization to travel to Quezaltenango, Guatemala.

Quezaltenango chairman Bill Neef asked the council not to take away the allotment which his organization has relied on the past 13 years to build interest in the program.

He painted a dismal picture of apathy, with only 31 families participating in the program with the Guatamala sister city and only $100 in the bank.

He said the same seven or eight families are always involved and spend hundreds of dollars from their own pockets to carry on this good will project.

"If you take this funding away, you'll kill us," he pleaded.

"It is hard to justify the travel funds if only 31 families in this town are interested," said Staley, who was reminded by Mayor Helen Tirsell that families with high school students are the main ones that would be involved because of foreign exchange students.

Councilman Glen Dahlbacka urged striking all transportation allowances for the foreign visitations, noting the numerous problems here.

Councilman Dale Turner seconded the motion, but quickly withdrew his second after realizing the motion was not to eliminate only the funding of the sister city organization's representative.

Staley's compromise motion would provide one allotment per year that could either be split between the two organizations or given to them in alternate years.

"We shouldn't pay for these," said Dahlbacka. "They should be raised by individuals."

Dahlbacka and Mayor Helen Tirsell voted against the funding.

Council watcher Paul Tull chided the council for putting a "dent in the budget when the police and fire should come ahead of it."

Multi-service center

Livermore gives design nod

LIVERMORE — Pleased with a presentation by architects of the proposed multi - service center, council Monday approved the design - development plans and paved the way for preparation of bidding contract documents.

The center is planned to house services for low income and disadvantaged people and will be funded through a HUD grant exceeding $700,000 from the Housing and Community Development Act program.

Architects from the firm Hirschen, Gammill, Trumbo and Cook of Berkeley showed the council a scale model of the center and explained the building's "duality."

Sandy Hirshen said the structure will have a warm feeling on one side to fit in with The Barn and be more "civic" on the side facing the police station and library.

He said the chevron shaped building would have a non - institutional character that would make people feel relaxed and want to enter.

He noted difficulties in planning, "because the tenants hadn't been selected yet."

Marion Mendelsohn, chairwoman of the social concerns committee, noted questionnaires were sent to 40 agencies in the area in an effort to develop criteria. Main programs would include health, dependency avoidance, employment and family services.

"We knew we needed a variety of sizes, including large and small rooms and a lot of open space," she said.

Hershon said the building would accomodate groups with fixed working hours, flexible hours and 24 hour crisis intervention type services.

"One debate we resolved was that the building would not be expandable," he said. "If certain groups grow large they must find new space and make room for other fledgling organizations."

With money limitations on energy conservation methods, the architects decided to use "passive energy systems," including double walls with air space in between to create a thick insulating mass. The roof will be concrete and tile to minimize heat loss and gain.

No windows will be placed on the west side and most of the north side will be glass, "to allow the most uniform natural light with less heat loss," said Hershon.

Cost estimates revealed the architects are "on budget," although they said there were some questions over the responsibility for street improvements.

Mayor Helen Tirsell expressed pleasure with the plans, which incorporated ideas she liked from very early discussions about the service center.

Response to 'Roots' story

Local family seeks freedom of mind as well

By Lucy Hobgood-Brown

Barry Bolden can't remeeber a time when his father was willing to relive what was often a painful past, even to satisfy his son's youthful curiosity. It came as a surprise to the Livermore resident to learn that his father had actually embarked one day on a search for his roots, an odyssey that took him back to Pittsylvania, Virginia.

Unfortunately, no one in Virginia had heard of Pittsylvania! And without the glamorous attraction of a prospective best - seller to dangle in front of them, no one was interested in helping Mr. Bolden track it down.

Today the entire Bolden clan is vicariously enjoying Alex Haley's triumph in "Roots," which has been named in the Nielsen ratings as the most popular television program of all time. The first dramatized documentary to run eight consecutive days, "Roots" held the nation spellbound as it unraveled one black's ancestry.

"It was a great piece of history," says Barry. "We didn't miss an episode. "His wife Sharron traces her heritage back only to her great - grandmother, who came from Tennessee. "I wish I knew more," she says wistfully, "but I'll definitely pass on what we know to our children."

Both Sharron and Barry agree that they feel good about themselves in 1977, "because now we can extend ourselves to others." They have made their lifestyle unique in many ways, one of which centers on an organization that provides a positive vision of and for people.

"Seven years ago I experienced big changes in my racial attitudes," admits Sharron. "That's when I joined Creative Initiative, because I absolutely knew that there's a way out of all that's negative." Her positive attitude helped give the Boldens the encouragement to join the Bay Area organization that now boasts over 2000 members of many nationalities.

Founded 40 years ago, Creative Initiative is a thriving non-profit organization that provides enrichment workshops and motivational films to help individuals find global solutions for life through their own enlightenment. Mutual trust and daily cooperation has made the organization unusually close-knit.

The Boldens pool their creative initiative with fellow members Jim and Eileen Rinde and another family at mealtime, when they practice what the organization preaches and cooperate by preparing three meals a week together. By buying at the C.I.'s food co-op, the neighbors can save time and money by going one step further and cooking larger quantities. Not only do two mothers not have to cook three evening meals a week, says Sharron, "but our kids learn to eat other kinds of food."

Over a hot stew recently, the Boldens and Rindes discussed the impact "Roots" has made on their lives. "You can't get the same emotional response about slavery by reading a history book," points out Jim, whose favorite episode was the last when he "knew there weren't going to be anymore whippings."

"My son Lance and I cried and cried after seeing Kunta Kinte get whipped for not answering to 'Toby,' " recalls Sharron. "He just wouldn't give up."

Eileen was most impressed with Fiddler, whose "understanding was incredible — he was willing to risk everything for Kunta Kinte." Barry also appreciated Fiddler, "who knew who he was and wasn't afraid to live with his identity."

Both couples recall with laughter the unintentional comic relief provided by O.J. Simpson, who appeared as an African warrior. "When he started running," points out Sharron, "I thought he'd just missed the bus or was going for a pass!"

While no overt racial experiences have scarred the Boldens' lives, they both appreciated the special skills each of Haley's ancestors possessed that enabled them to escape the harsh fieldhand's life, whether it was cock fighting or blacksmithing. "It moved them closer to freedom," believes Barry.

"Today we're psychologically and spiritually enslaved," declares Sharron, who states that as the main reason the couple joined Creative Initiative. "Although alot of choices are available to blacks now," she says, "it doesn't solve the problem of psychological enslavement. There must be a way for people to live together — and Creative Initiative does that."

The Bolden family's roots are firmly planted in the belief that solutions to problems come through the enlightenment of the individual for a positive vision of and for people.

Local action

From Dublin Lions Club comes a unique competition leading to "Honorary Mayor of the Valley." Six service clubs from four communities will take part in that race, and local charities will benefit 100 percent from the proceeds thus generated.

Livermore Rotary Club will jazz up the Valley entertainment scene with a May gathering of top talent; the goal is $25,000 to meet an old community goal: Lights for the recreation field.

In Pleasanton, the Junior Women have pulled together a score of service organizations into a unique Mardi Gras theme that will allow each of those participating groups to share the fun of this highly - successful venture, even while they retain the money that you pay out, but that will return profit to projects for youth, for senior citizens and for those others in our midst and in need.

These are but three items on the 1977 calendar of events that offer a staggering array of fund - raisers; it is enough to make some suburban givers holler "Have mercy!" But while we tally up the dollar here, dollar there tap which seems ever present, we might remember that this is money that stays within our town, for projects that might otherwise be lined up for this - and - that tax handout. The difference is that it costs our government up to 40 cents in administration for each tax dollar restributed; major national "charities" admit to spending from 25 to 65 percent of their income for "overhead."

The dollars that we raise here, applied to local ventures operated by unpaid volunteers, are by far our best investment. Even when that volunteer muscle is hitched to the local government's wagon — as with Little League games on a community - owned field — the combination is a terrific dollar value.

Place these local charities high on your gift list, and you earn the highest possible return for your investment.

. . . and the press

One measure of community action is the newspaper which serves as recorder, prodder and cheer leader for that home-town verve.

This Valley is well blessed in the matter of "community journalism," and this newspaper is proud of the role it has been permitted to play down through the years, identifying the needs and the accomplishments of 100,000 men, women and children in our readership orbit.

Nowhere is that activity more evident than on the editorial page of The Times. Within that one page we offer commentary from nine members of our news staff and, more importantly, the "letters to the editor" which enliven our newspaper and enlighten us all with their incisive views.

The success of that joint venture has been recognized also by those who judge California's finest newspapers; four times The Times (when it was then a weekly publication) has been cited by California Newspaper Publishers for "editorial excellence." Now, as a daily publication competing with some very fine newspapers in the 15,000 to 50,000 circulation bracket, The Times has once again been singled out for editorial page honors. We were second in that category only to the Ventura County Star — Free Press, which has a paid circulation of over 36,000.

It is a prize we share with those of you who keep us on our toes, and with the members of our staff who make our editorial pages a lively forum for views that often differ, but never waiver from this newspaper's goal: To be as enlightened and entertaining as the people we serve.

Hindsight/Foresight

McCarthy & media

The electronic media did a three-hour dramatization Sunday evening on the hey-day of the late Joe McCarthy, the senator from Wisconsin who directed the House Un-American Activities Committee probe of suspected communists in the 50s.

McCarthy and his conferees of that period have been the subject of numerous books, lectures and films in recent years — almost all declaring McCarthyites to be evil if not the devil incarnate.

We passed up the opportunity to see this three-hour televised version of the McCarthy saga in favor of viewing "Network," a film which is a damning indictment of the television industry.

The difficulty with both mediums — television and film — is to separate what facts may be contained therein from dramatization.

There was undoubtedly a strong tendency to take everything presented in the McCarthy drama and accept it at face value.

Which is frightening when one stops and realizes that this work is dramatization based on some person or group's version of the facts.

It is amazing to see how long it has taken for all the McCarthy-haters, those victimized by his methods of ferreting out communists, and all their sympathizers, to surface.

But in recent years they've been coming out of the woodwork with eyes ablaze, tongues lashing and typewriters smoking.

Yet, during the lengthy Army - McCarthy hearings and for some time afterwards, little action was taken by legislators or pressure groups to censure McCarthy.

As pointed out by a fellow staffer, the late Robert Kennedy and brother John, a senator at the time, took no action. The younger Kennedy, in fact, had a key position in seeking out anti-American sympathizers of the period. But little has been written or dramatized on this segment of the total issue.

McCarthy and his fellow investigators of the era, not the least of which was Richard M. Nixon, take the brunt of the invective.

Most of those who have and continue to scream the loudest cast themselves as luckless victims of an evil and sick man, whose lives were ruined by "McCarthyism."

Yet in most cases, these people admit they were active in the communist party at one time or another. Almost all worked in the media where access to the masses was and is rather easy.

The influence of the media, specifically television, is the major message of the film "Network."

For whether one is "selling" soap or some type of "ism," the greatest potential rests with those who have access or influence in the media.

One wonders how many new converts the dramatization of McCarthy's public life produced, how many accepted it without question.

It is thought-provoking that the activities of Joe McCarthy and that era, once approved and considered proper by millions of Americans, is now the target for scorn and recriminations.

Letters to the Times

Woman's pride

Editor, The Times:

Attention Earl Walters — re: your article "Not Funny"

Congratulations Mrs. Dee Schmidt for your comment re the above in the Times February fourth issue.

Could we please hear from a lot more women who believe in the pride of womanhood and who wish to defend their rights to be acknowledged as women, homemakers, wives and mothers. God forbid that we as Mrs. Homemaker, Mrs. Wife and Mrs. Mother should ever have to hide behind the words, people, spouse, human beings, human race and Ms.

Do not let the so called liberated women just take your identity, demand that they ask you first.

I wish to add that because of the recent publication of "Not Funny" and the consideration of the Editor to print Mrs. Schmidts comment, my husband and I decided to sub-scribe to the Times. We are not sub-scribers to any other newspaper.

San Ramon concern

Editor, The Times:

I simply cannot thank you enough for printing part of my letter and for your "Peer Pressure" editorial.

I consider this reporting a very important community service right now.

Mrs. G.E. Carter
San Ramon

(Mrs. Carter shared with The Times her concern over another publication's coverage of "drug abuse by students in San Ramon." Our own concern for San Ramon's total youth population parallels that of Mrs. Carter's. — Editor.)

Water limited

Editor, The Times:

According to Mr. Mun Mar of the Zone 7 Water District there is adequate water until spring for the valley. That is great! But unless everyone makes a conscientious effort to conserve water now what is the Valley suppose to do for the summer?

Now that the mayor and staff have the Zone 7 Water report what do they propose for the residents and business? It is only 3 short months until spring, are they going to wait until then — when the water supply is even less, that they will then make a decision as to what to do with the limited water supply.

May I suggest that all practice water conservation now and, hopefully, the mayor and her study groups will come up with some practical suggestions for all to conserve water and be fair to all the water users.

'That's progress'

Editor, The Times:

During the past several years our local government representatives have ignored a very pertinent portion of our constitutional heritage ... the inalienable privilege of self government guaranteed to each and all of us ... There is no provision that allows dictatorial power to either an elected or hireling official ...

What has happened to this power of the people here in Livermore? Lethargy! That's where the local people have failed miserably. It is doubtful that any other city in the nation has allowed their city officials to ignore as many laws as have been broken in pushing through the Railroad Relocation Program ... ... Why would it take 20 years to start it if the people were so willing and anxious? ... That is why they resorted to an assessment district with the Southern Pacific holding premptory control. ...

The difference between the Assessment district — $1,425,000 and the total cost, somewhere between $4.5 million and $7,5 million, had to come from somewhere and that meant the rest of the city. However, they were barred from having any choice in the matter but will be paying through the nose via the tax bills just the same.

The promoters promised that there would be no condemnations of other properties or people required to move out of their homes. These promises were also fradulent. ...

Now, after all the belly-aching about the importance of beautification to induce taxpayers to blow in millions to add a little beauty around town, it turns out to be nothing more than a subterfuge to squander our funds for a bunch of weed and trash catchers. ...

If we weren't covering the earth around town with so much concrete there wouldn't be any need for beautification ... "That's progress!" says Mrs. Tirsell!

The question before the house is not "Why" but "How" do they get away with it?

round the town

A refresher course in "San Franciscmania" is required for all suburbanites if only to remind us that:

1. There is no such thing as a free drink, but there are martinis that go for $2.50 per;

2. Sally Stanford is alive and well and kicking hell out of the Sausalito establishment ... and thrilling elitist female audiences with such lines as "A woman still needs a husband who loves her ... if she can find such a thing."

3. Legitimate theatre like "The Royal Family" is well worth the price, meals at the St. Francis Hotel are not;

4. Madame has trouble riding the cable car in her longish evening gown, but it sure beats paying three bucks to ride six blocks in a filthy cab.

Realizing that many of you hinterland home owners are often deprived of an evening in The City — if only because you have something better to do with a hundred dollar bill — I am pleased to offer my annual "Frisco Guide for Friskees," or, "If rape is inevitable, always choose San Francisco because they put so much into it."

One startling fact becomes shockingly clear as you emerge from the Oakland smog and enter the Frisco fog ... there is not evidence of a single new skyscraper now under construction in all of The City! To the visitor from troubled environmental vales such as this, the absence of new highrises rising in the SF skyline suggest one of three possibilities: 1. San Francisco is running out of sky in which to high rise; 2. San Francisco is running out of beaches on which to dump raw sewerage; or, 3. San Franciscans have finally gotten smart.

I would not like to suggest that No. 3. of the above is likely ... thereby destroying our faith in one of the last really insane city - county governments in all of California. A more reasonable explanation would be that report which finds San Francisco is slowly but surely sinking away ... a lovely old soldier finally yielding to the stupidity of man, money and Moscone.

So much for the good news. Of more urgent interest is "the cultural side" of the West Bay ... a delightful offering at the Curran Theatre which recaptures some of the mad - cap memory of the Barrymores ... the "Royal Family" of stage and screen and litigation for two generations or more. Recommended most highly, if only to remind yourself that the American art form does not begin and end with Maude and Mary of tubular fame.

A trip to the north side of the Bay is an experience, to test the new ferry system, and to establish that "The Lady of The House" still lives, in Sausalito, and in political sin. That is the title of Sally Stanford's best - selling (Sausalito and San Francisco only) book ... and while I have yet to digest all eleven dollars of Sally's hard cover effort, I anticipate it will be at least as spicy as some of what Ms. Stanford had to tell us newspaper people at a luncheon gathering in her restaurant...

"Those sonsabitches in city hall don't know what they're doing .. I would sooner trust a rattlesnake than a politician ... I'm a Republican but think Nixon was a s — o — b —" (that's an appelation she uses often, but I will avoid such repetition) ... "I'm still waiting for Brown to do something" ... and, when asked if she has any optimism for the future — "Not a helluva lot."

Sally does not belabor her role in SF's earlier and more colorful history ... but neither does she deny it. ("I learned to spell s-e-x when I was five, but I never knew what it was until I was 14." By then she was already into marriage, an experience Sally would try some four times ... along with other experiences too numerous to recount here.

Her roots are in the badlands of Oregon, and she still gives evidence of that "survive as best you can" spirit in her salty orations, her six - times effort at the Sausalito city council, and her current triumph as mayor of that uncertain municipality. While many will not agree with her formula for financial success (actually the poor dear never could have made it in prostitution if it hadn't been for her bootlegging sideline) there is something refreshingly candid about the Sally Stanford view of politics and life. Cheaper and more satisfying than anything the St. Francis Hotel had to offer.

Local action 55 mph

Is the 55 mile speed limit here to stay? More importantly, is it reducing traffic injuries and fatalities? That question has been debated since the state's maximum speed of 70 MPH was reduced in 1974 solely as an "energy conservation" measure.

Senator Larry Walsh, then serving as Senate Transportation Committee chairman, authored the change even though he said he was opposed to it. He said it was necessary because the federal government had threatened withholding of highway funds if the states didn't observe the federal edict for speed reductions.

At the time the government was already holding back large highway allocations from the states in efforts to divert road funds to mass transit. With the election of Governor Jerry Brown introducing an anti-highway construction policy into state government in 1975 the need to conform to the federal mandate diminished even more. By that time the energy crunch had already proved to be temporary and had long since eased.

Nevertheless the speed restriction on freeways built specifically for high speeds remain for various reasons. Traffic control officers, including the Highway Patrol, see it as a bonanza for ticket writing and justification for more troops. Local governments are reaping unexpected revenues. Forgotten is the initial reason of energy shortage as the chant has become one of "safety." Traffic officials, backed by safety councils and mass transit advocates, repeatedly claim the law is saving lives.

Since, under the terms of the Walsh bill, the state will revert to the maximum 70 MPH next year unless the lawmakers act to prolong the reduced speed, the issue will be fought out this year or early next year in the Legislature. That it will be controversial is evident by the complaints of great numbers of motorists and the opposition to them of safety "experts" and those favoring continued pressure on the autoists to achieve mass transit goals.

This looming battle makes an examination of the facts in order. Statistics furnished by the Highway Patrol reveal there was indeed a drop in injuries and deaths on the freeways in 1974. Total injuries fell from 250,396 to 231,253 while deaths reduced from 4905 to 4019.

But further study seems to challenge the claims of the 55 mph being responsible. For the figures for city streets, where speeds were unchanged, reflect similar declines that year. Also in 1971 with speeds at maximum limits there was a significant unexplained drop in total injuries and deaths on both highways and city streets.

Even if the 55 mph is credited for the 1974 decline, and there is no hard evidence that it was being rigidly observed, how can the subsequent climb back up that has since occurred, while the lower speed remains in effect, be explained? As it stand estimates for total traffic injuries in 1976 are pegged at 256,124, an all time high. Part of this may be due to an increase in bicyclists and pedestrians but deaths and injuries have also climbed in 1975 and 1976 on the freeways where cyclists and pedestrians are not allowed.

Since the figures available do not separate accidents on the straight-aways from those on highly congested freeways where it is impossible to attain even the 55 mph speed, absolutes cannot be concluded.

Some may contend that the increase in accidents during 75-76 is because the motorists are not observing the limit or that enforcement isn't as great as it should be. Highway Patrol Commissioner Glen Craig would refute that. Brought in to replace Walter Pudisnki who viewed the 55 mph as "bad law" because it was "unpopular and unenforceable" Craig has made speed limit enforcement top priority.

Perhaps the initial assessment that the 1974 accident decline was the result of fewer motorists on streets and highways due to the fuel shortage is the real explanation.

Berry's World

"Which would you like first, the report on the economy or the weather?"

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read in your column about a product called Lact-Aid which splits milk lactose into digestible sugars. The symptoms that accompany intolerance to lactose were described as gas, diarrhea and indigestion.

I, too, am allergic to milk. My symptoms are sneezing and congested sinuses. The only times I have been able to use milk were the last two months of my pregnancies and the first two months after delivery.

If it is protein in milk that I am sensitive to is there some way that it can be treated to make it more agreeable? Also, I have been refused as a blood donor because of the allergy. I sure would like to be able to use cow's milk. Thank you for any assistance.

DEAR READER — Lactose intolerance results from being unable to split milk sugar (lactose). That is not the same thing as milk allergy which is a reaction to milk protein. That is why your symptoms are different. You were able to use milk at the end of your pregnancy because the increased hormone production at that time causes a woman to be less sensitive to allergies. It is a bit like having your own built-in production of steroid hormones that we use to treat severe allergies.

I want to take this opportunity to caution people against thinking that solving the much more common lactose intolerance problem will mean they will not be allergic to milk. True milk allergy occurs mostly in infants before the digestive system matures. Incompletely digested protein is absorbed into the bloodstream and the body reacts in an allergic manner. As the child grows older the intestine matures so that undigested protein is not absorbed and the problem may disappear. In lactose intolerance problems the common form appears as the child grows older and is most severe in adults, not children.

You may be able to use some of the milk substitutes that you could find in the section for infant foods. Pick one that has no milk in it. Some of these are made with soybean products and are a very good substitute for milk. Different brands taste a great deal different so if you don't like the first brand try something else.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad, to give you a more complete understanding of lactose intolerance in these foods. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Treating milk with Lact-Aid is very helpful for all those adults who have symptoms from lactose intolerance. It can make the difference between being able to drink and use milk and not being able to. However, its action is limited to splitting the double sugar, lactose. It has no action on milk proteins at all. So, while it helps people with the most common type of milk intolerance it does not help the few people like you who have a real allergy to milk protein.

Individuals with some medical problems, particularly regional enteritis (Crohn's disease) and ulcerative colitis are intolerant to milk. Milk may precipitate acute attacks of their illness. In some of these individuals the intolerance is related solely to lactose intolerance as part of the disease and possibly in others there may be a sensitivity — or allergic-like — reaction which may cause attacks of the illness.

Q. "HOW ARE WAX CRAYONS MADE?"

A. WAX CRAYONS ARE MADE BY MIXING AND MOLDING MELTED WAX WITH COLORING PIGMENTS.
DICK Rogers
© 1977 by NEA, Inc. T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

The wax crayons used to color pictures on paper were mixed in big cooking pots. A wax crayon is a stick of colored wax.

To make wax crayons, the crayonmaker begins by pouring melted wax into big mixing kettles. Then he adds colored powders called pigments to the wax.

Mixing blades mix the hot wax and colors together. After mixing the colors, the crayonmaker pours the colored wax onto nearby molding trays.

The hot, colored wax flows into crayon-shaped holes in the trays. It cools and hardens into crayons.

When the crayons are hard, the crayonmaker pushes a handle on the tray to press the crayons from their holes.

Next, the bright sticks of color will go to a machine that wraps each crayon in a paper wrapper the color of the crayon. Finally, the labeled crayons go to packaging machines that gather up crayons of different colors and slide them into boxes.

There are probably a lot of ways to bid today's hand to seven hearts. There are even more ways to stop at six or even at a mere game and some enterprising matchpoint bidders might find their way to an impossible seven notrump. At notrump there are just 12 tricks and no way to collect 13.

Seven hearts is a good contract although very bad breaks might beat it. South takes dummy's ace of spades and cashes two of his high trumps. Then he must play his king and queen of clubs and ace and king of diamonds. Next, he ruffs a diamond, discards his last diamond on dummy's ace of clubs, ruffs a spade to get back to his hand and claims.

The bidding as shown is worth study. North starts proceedings by showing he wants to play in hearts. South merely bids on to game. He is looking at a rather skimpy two bid.

Now North invites a slam by bidding four spades and South responds with five diamonds. This bid shows the diamond ace but denies the club ace.

North knows about the ace of clubs and shows it, whereupon South bids six diamonds to show the diamond king and invite seven at the same time. North doesn't know what South holds in clubs, but if South is interested in seven North is ready and bids it.

Ask the Jacobys

Recently, we answered a question on review of the bidding by giving the rubber bridge ruling which is that you can demand a review of the bidding any time it is your turn to bid during the auction or when the bidding is over and before the opening lead is made. We will give the more complicated duplicate rule tomorrow.

Bill Edgar—what makes him run

PLEASANTON — The political process is a fascinating one and that, as much as anything, drew Bill Edgar into the job of a professional city manager.

He could have had a career in private industry management, but a trip to South America with his father, who was a big business executive, convinced him that it was not the lifestyle for him.

Returning to college in his native Pennsylvania, he shifted direction into the public sector of management and got his first job with the state of Pennsylvania. He liked the notion of serving people and came West to an administrative assistant's post with the city of Fresno.

Pleasanton was his next stop, more than 11 years ago, when Jim Fales hired him as the city's director of finance. After Fales left in 1971 for the city manager's job in Redwood City, Edgar was promoted to the top job in the growing city.

They were years of fast growth at first, which had its own strain, and then the sewer freeze hit, bringing an even greater strain of very little growth, a squeeze on the city's purse strings.

Despite the handicap on the city's income, Edgar can point with pride to many accomplishments over the years. He shaped up the city's internal personnel organization, beginning in the Fales regime and following through with a big reorganiztation which came when growth slowed down.

"Back in 1965, Fales and I were just flying by the seat of our pants," said Edgar. "Then we systemetized the functions of the city".

He's proud of the bricks and mortar achievements during his administration, including the city hall and the cultural arts center.

City manager's styles differ widely in dealing with city councils. Edgar's method has been to deal quietly behind the scenes with each council member.

"The city council is not interested in looking at my philosophy, but at the proposals I bring them, backed up with data. Even if it's a liberal proposal like the Human Services Deapartment, if it is backed up with data, they will commit themselves to it." City managers often have a political science background, but for some reason didn't run for elective office. Nevertheless, like Edgar, they find the whole concept of power a fascinating one.

"I like to look at the power bases people have to have to make decisions and to get elected. The whole decision - making process is a fascinating one," said Edgar.

Although Fales appeared to have groomed Edgar to take over his duties in the growing city of 1971, Edgar has not recommended anyone on his staff for the duties. He has sent the council a list of five management consultants and members will pick one to help in the search for Edgar's successor.

"We've had a long period — since 1960 — with one managerial philosophy and I felt it's time for new blood," said Edgar.

On a personal level, Edgar said he and his wife, Karen, have enjoyed living here, though the job has consumed a great deal of his time and he hasn't read all the books he would have liked or attended all the social functions he wished.

Mixed feelings for '77

Chamber hears economist

The nation's economic outlook for 1977 is "interesting ... mixed ... stable ... not booming but not depressed."

That was the forecast offered by Noralyn Ewert, economist with the world headquarters office of Bank of America who spoke to a Tuesday gathering of business leaders in Pleasanton.

Ewert drew a picture of the 1977 economy as anticipated in California, in the United States and in the world, and she found "good news and bad news" in that forecast. Basically, Bank of America looks for "a stable year" with little "dramatic change" in inflation, in unemployment and in the rate of growth experienced in 1976.

"We see relatively good economic growth," Ewert said, bolstered slightly by "government stimulation." The harsh winter experienced in the eastern states and the drought which persists in much of the west "will have serious impact on the economy, but to what extent we don't really know" the speaker said. On the world picture, "only three or four nations are really stable" from an economic standpoint and "many countries are in bad shape."

There will be no recession in the United States in 1977 or in 1978, Ewert stated but the rate of economic growth this year will be "slightly less" than that experienced in 1976. She sees growth and inflation both at five percent while interest rates remain "relatively stable." The current sluggish state of the stock market is "a reflection of the harsh winter and the drought."

New home starts "look good" throughout the nation but the Bay Area "has some problems ... water, sewer and the impact on the environment."

Ewert also revealed that B of A each year applies a "risk rating" to each nation in the world and, at the outset of 1977 finds only Japan, West Germany and the United States as "stable" ground for new investors.

Ewert spoke to a meeting of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce which attracted a "very encouraging" turnout of 42 members, president Bill Hirst said in launching the chamber's new year of weekly luncheon gatherings.

Automobile dealership questioned

PLEASANTON — Technically speaking, Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell was correct — there are no new car dealers in the city.

However, there is a new truck dealer, Goe Auto Sales, which sells International Harvester products, including the Scout, a small vehicle which might fit into the auto class.

So says T.W. Goe, whose auto lot on Santa Rita Road near Stanley Boulevard has been a longtime fixture in the city.

Campbell made the statement when explaining why the city goes to a state motor pool to buy many of its vehicles and Goe was a little unhappy with the press report that the city has no new car dealers.

The city even has some International vehicles purchased from Goe, dating back six or seven years, said the dealer.

Ice fishing has rewards

In the Bag

HAROLD DALBOL REPORTS that he's been enjoying fishing through the ice. And he didn't go to the frozen eastern part of the nation to do it. He went fishing north of Lake Tahoe in several high country lakes up there. He has pictures of some of his catch, showing trout around 14 inches. This is a different kind of sport.

WHILE DEL VALLE RESERVOIR is right in our back yard, almost, and a favorite of fishermen, it is low. I've heard that even the fish are carrying canteens!

At Frank's Tract in the Delta the fishing has been spotty. Again, some anglers inform me that it's the wrong time of the moon. There are certainly a lot of extenuating circumstances, right?

BILL CALDWELL PREDICTED THE morning fog would lift by 10 A.M., and plans went ahead for the Running Deer Shoot at the Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club on February 6.

Team captains from the various clubs turned in their rosters. Participating clubs were the Bay Sportsmen, Eagle Rock, Tri City, Sacramento, Fremont, and Livermore. Over 115 shooters entered the competition.

The weather turned out to be ideal for the shoot, with everyone comfortable in shirt sleeves and ready to take on all comers. Following are the scores of top shooters:

Distinguished Class, John Rock, Livermore, score 43; runner-up, Carl Ehre with a score of 42.

Master Class, Al Elsholz, Sacramento, 38; Al Ramsey (won shoot off), 35, from Eagle Rock.

Expert Class, Bill Kusich, Livermore, 34; Layton Ford, Bay Sportsmen, 32.

Sharpshooter Class, Chuck Treadway, Bay Sportsmen, 34; Lonny Amaya, Tri City, 33.

Marksman Class, Mike Christenson, Tri City, 29; K. C. Croswell, Livermore, 28 (won shoot off).

A shoot off for second place in the Master Class was held between Al Ramsey of Eagle Rock and Carter Wreden of Livermore. Al's score was 22; Carter's 17.

Three shooters tied for second place in the Marksman Class. K. C. Croswell of Livermore had the winning score of 15; Jerry Jorgensen was next with 13 and Earl Dye, 11.

Club scores for the day were as follows: Livermore, 185; Eagle Rock 171; Tri City, 156; Bay Sportsmen, 142; Fremont, 118; and Sacramento, 112.

Ezra Ballard, Darrell Barton, Allen Elholz and his dad, Bill Elholz, Hal Glaze, and Manuel Lozano say they are going to trim the sails of the Livermore Club next time!

Iron Chicken shooters were so numerous that it would be impossible to name all of them. They seemed to have more fun than anyone, too.

Top shooters in the Off Hand Rifle event were John Rock, Class I, with 44. In Class II, Carl Mossinger with a score of 41; followed by Larry Mikkelsen with 35; and Jerry Mann, 29.

Ed Heikla and Ed Short reports the pistol shooters were out with their best equipment. There were lots of linguisa shoots; and also many who just liked to shoot pistol, from 22 short to that rip-sorter the 44 mag.

ED SHORT TELLS me his favorite running deer load is a Gov't. 06 case, clean and swage primer pockets, put in Win. No. 110 primers, then drop in 52 grains of 3031, and a WW 110 grain S.P. bullet on top of all this. Sure a soft shooting round and also easy on the billfold. Ed says, "This sure works for me in my old Sprigfield; but may not for you."

NO. 20, WHICH LED the Dept. of Fish and Game (DFG) capture team on its most difficult chase, is dead. But even in death, the 5-year-old male mountain lion is expected to contribute to the DFG's study of the cougar in California.

Death came to the lion in the Bryson - Nacimiento River area along the Monterey - San Luis Obispo county line, some miles south of where it was captured on Fort Hunter - Liggett two years ago in April.

The remains of the lion were discovered by two San Luis Obispo high school boys who were pigeon hunting in the mountainous, brush-covered area.

Peter Quaglino, 15, and his cousin, Marc Brazil, 16, found the lion lying in the open near a watering trough. It still carried its No. 20 tag and a radio telemery collar from which DFG monitors last received signals on May 2, 1976. Its location then was fixed in the extreme southwest corner of the Fort.

Peter said that the pair were puzzled by the presence of the collar and tag, and so they notified DFG Warden Allen Huckaby of nearby Atascadero who arranged to have the remains shipped to Sacramento for analysis.

Larry Sitton, assistant wildlife manager - biologist who did the field work for the Department's lion study, said the cause of death was not readily apparent. Experience has shown that collaring the animals has no adverse effect. Biologists hope results of laboratory examinations and other evidence will help them find the answer.

Sitton said that No. 20 had one of the largest ranges of any of the cougars studied. Nicknamed "Cowboy" after the hound that succeeded in tracking it down after seven horus, No. 20 ranged over approximately 100 square miles and was six miles outside of its previous range when it died.

The DFG has written Peter and Marc to thank them for their help with the study, enclosing a brief history of the animal and a small check as a reward.

AV, Mats in 'crucial'

Defending champion Amador Valley, loser of two of its past three games, will face another tough task when the Dons travel to Granada tonight in a key East Bay Athletic League basketball contest.

Amador Valley, which shares the lead with Livermore, both having 7-2 records, will face a Granada team which is 6-3 and tied for third.

Other EBAL games have Monte Vista (6-3) traveling to California (1-8), Livermore at Dublin (1-8) and Foothill (2-7) going to San Ramon (6-3).

Mats hold on, win title

By Brian Martin

Pecking away frantically at the Granada High goal in the final minutes, Amador Valley's soccer team failed to turn the trick.

Instead, Granada's charged - up squad held the Dons off, with the help of a back-to-the-wall save by goalie Gary Lamb in taking a 2-1 win yesterday to grab the East Bay Athletic League title by a hair.

All the Dons needed was a tie to win the title, having led the Mats by one point in the standings. With the loss, the Dons ended the season at 10-3-1 and 21 points, while the Matadors grabbed their first-ever title with a 10-2-2 record and 22 points.

Kevin Crow picked up Amador's first goal just 25 seconds into the contest after a Keith Clay throw-in bounced off the back of Joe Correia. Crow sliced the ball in from the corner for a 1-0 AV lead.

Knowing his club had to score two goals, Granada coach Bill Coupe made some changes.

"We never gave up," he said. "They haven't ever been this close to a championship in 12 years. They figured it was their time, I guess. They knew they had to control the game."

The changes Coupe made were in his midfield alignment, producing the Mats' first goal at the 30-minute mark on a Keith Teel looping shot off on assist from Manzar Iqbal for a 1-1 tie.

"The game was in the midfield," Coupe said. "We went to a 4-3-3 to start out with, but we needed goals and we weren't getting them. So, we switched to a 4-2-2 and that gave us an extra man on offense."

In the second half, Granada conrolled the game early, picking up the midfield advantage and striking at the AV goal.

The Mats finally got their go-ahead goal when, after an Iqbal corner kick, Kevin Burke headed the ball backwards to Gary Bannister, who rocketed it past everyone gathered at the net and through for a 2-1 lead at the 15-minute mark of the second half.

"We needed the goal," explained Coupe. "It didn't do us any good to tie. If we needed to we would have put all 11 guys on offense, because we needed that goal."

Granada chose to go uphill on the first half and downhill in the second, a move that AV coach Mike Geib thought might work to his club's advantage. "Our only thought was that if it continued to rain, they would have to be defending that goal and their goalie would have to be knee-deep in mud," said Geib, referring to the fact that the team going downhill must defend a goal near the baseball infield of Granada's field. "But it didn't rain anymore."

Lamb, playing in the muddy goal, made a valiant save in the closing minutes to secure the game. After a long kick by an Amador forward Lamb followed the ball and caught it in his chest, falling backwards on the play. To keep himself from falling into the goal, Lamb threw the ball out. Correia, though, toed the rebound but hit the post with his shot, saving the game for the Mats. It was the best chance AV had to equal the score.

"One thing we did not do was shoot enough," explained Geib. "Their fullbacks would collapse on us, but then we wouldn't shoot as much from the 20-yard range. When you try to work the ball in too much, you slip and fall."

Both Coupe and Geib had praises for their players in th final game for some seniors. Coupe held the efforts of fullbacks Bob Foster, Kurt Honodel. Teel and Mark Robsion, while Geib thought seniors Clay, Brad Boldrini, Blalock, Mike Wilcox and sophomore Steve Wilcox played well.

"He saved a goal for us on a head-out," said Geib of Steve Wilcox. "We lost four seniors from the starting lineup; Those are the ones I feel sorry for the most. But, we'll be back."

Dons ease past MV

Compiled by Times staff

Amador Valley High School's chances for the East Bay Athletic League girls' basketball championship became brighter last night as the Dons rolled to a 69-59 win over the seemly hapless Monte Vista Mustangs.

The Dons, now 8-1, lead the EBAL by a game over Monte Vista which fell to 7-2.

In other EBAL games San Ramon dumped California, 56-29, Livermore moved its record to 7-2 with an easy 39-24 victory over Granada and Dublin edged visiting Foothill 41-38.

The Dons, led by Jayne Kuhns' 21 points and Debbie Oxen's 18, went up by as much as 29 midway through the third quarter.

The Mustangs, however, with Linda Silva and Carol Dolsby providing most of the offense, cut Amador's lead to 10 points twice in the climatic fourth period. Silva, who led all scorers with 27 points, fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Amador, behind Oxen's eight points in the first quarter, jumped out to a decisive 22-7 first period advantage, highlighted by a spurt of 6-0 and 10-0 by the visiting Dons.

Amador then proceeded to go up by 25 at the half which included drives of 16 straight points and 10 straight points.

Behind by 26 points at the start of the fourth quarter the Mustangs came back to outscore the Dons 7-0, to pull within 17 at 60-43.

The Mustangs, who coach Barbara Tablar said "We just started out too late," proceeded to outscore the Dons 6-0 for a 63-49 score with 3:51 left. The Mustangs cut it to 61-51 on a 12-foot jumper by Dolsby with 3:45 showing.

Using a balanced scoring attack and applying bottle-tight defense, Livermore got 10 points apiece from Lee Hardiman and Patti Shirley to best the Lynn Bousliman-led Matadors.

Bousliman scored 10 points, but no other Granada player scored more than two. The best Granada could do in scoring by quarters was an eight-point output in the second quarter after falling behind 12-4. Livermore led 24-12 at half and 32-18 entering the fourth period.

Livermore increased their record to 7-2 with the win, while the Mats dropped to 4-5. The closest the Mats could get in the game after the first half was 34-22 early in the fourth quarter on a Bousliman bomb.

San Ramon rolled to their second straight win as California had trouble mounting an offense without star center P.J. Moore. Moore, who hurt her ankle

No girls' soccer?

Swim season still on

By Clay Kallum

The East Bay Athletic League Board of Governors voted to go ahead with spring swimming but once again failed to endorse girls' soccer at their meeting yesterday morning.

All but two of the swimming pools in the EBAL were turned off last week but at yesterday's meeting the Board of Governors decided to go ahead with the swimming unless they are specifically ordered to stop by the Public Utilities' Commission.

Originally the pools were closed in response to a telephone plea from a staff member of the PUC in an effort to save natural gas for the eastern United States. However, when reports reached California that swimming pools back east were still being heated, despite the energy crisis, it was decided to go ahead and fire up the pools again.

"Since the pools are already filled with water, the drought has little effect on the continued use of the pools. Craig Ritz, the swim coach at San Ramon, said "In the case of our pool, the actual use of water is very, very small."

If the pools had been shut down, most of the swimming programs in the valley would have stopped along with them, as well as physical education programs built around swimming.

Monday night, the San Ramon Valley Unified School District ordered that the pools at California High and San Ramon be opened and reheated which opened the way for Cal, San Ramon and Monte Vista to begin practicing again. Dublin's pool is operated by the Valley Community Services District and the only possibility of closure there

Warriors blast Bullets

OAKLAND — The Golden State Warriors' Rick Barry scored 21 of his 42 total points in the first period Tuesday night and sat out the final quarter of a 128-104 rout of the Washington Bullets.

It was Barry's high-point mark of the National Basketball Association season. He scored 11 points in the second period and 10 points in the decisive third quarter.

The Warriors, who led 62-56 at halftime, outscored the Bullets 33-20 in the third period to clinch their third consecutive victory.

Elvin Hayes and rookie guard Larry Wright scored 19 points apiece to lead Washington's scoring. Reserve forward Derrek Dickey scored 16 for the Warriors in his best performance since recovering from a broken ankle.

Jenkins named prep of week

The East Bay Athletic League dominated this week's Flecto Prep of the Week selections.

Tim Jenkins of Livermore High School was named Alameda County Prep of the Week and Monte Vista's Carol Dolsby was selected as Contra Costa's top prep.

Jenkins scored 29 points, connecting on 13 of 17 field goal attempts in Livermore's 72-65 basketball victory over Monte Vista last week. He scored six straight points during one stretch late in the game when the Cowboys were down by 11 points. Jenkins is the EBAL's leading scorer with a 20.4 average through nine games.

Dolsby, a 5-6, 120 pound guard, tallied 44 points in two EBAL games last week. She sparked the Mustangs to a 49-43 win over Livermore and a 53-37 victory over Foothill.

She canned 28 points against Foothill, sinking 13 shots from the field along with two free throws. Against Livermore she dumped in 16 points on eight field goals. She has scored a game-high of 35 points this season.

Other Alameda County nominees were Colleen Galloway of Moreau of Hayward and Foothill's Steve Sperber.

Sperber, a 6-5, 220 pounder, scored 30 points against Granada and 11 against Dublin. He was also tough on the boards.

Galloway, a 5-10, 140 pound cager, scored 25 points in a 62-27 win over Holy Names before coming back to tally 31 more against Bishop O'Dowd. Moreau won that game, 74-27.

She has averaged 23 points and 15 rebounds a game this season. Moreau is 22-0 on the year and has a 6-0 mark in the Catholic Athletic League. Moreau is also the defending North Coast Section champion.

Allen almost left for Canada

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The baseball odyssey of Dick Allen almost took a Canadian turn, according to an executive of the Toronto Blue Jays, Peter Bavasi.

"About two weeks ago, I got a phone call from a Melvyn Leshinsky, who said he was representing Dick Allen," Bavasi, the expansion club's vice president and general manager, said Tuesday from Toronto.

Leshinsky said he was making the call at Allen's request, Bavasi related. "He said Allen (a free agent) had gotten some feelers from other clubs but what would really make him happy would be playing for his favorite team, the Toronto Blue Jays."

Bavasi asked why all this sudden interest in Toronto, a team destined for immediate failure on the field, like all expansion clubs, in its first season.

"Mr. Leshinsky told me it was because we have a young ballclub and Dick wanted to make a contribution with young ballplayers."

Bavasi said he resisted the temptation to laugh, but did raise questions about Allen's track record. He noted that Allen had been considered undependable, with his own set of rules, when he played for five other major league clubs — including Philadelphia, for the second time — the past two years. He's a veteran of 14 major league seasons with 346 lifetime home runs.

"I'm not certain Mr. Allen's background is consistent with our program in Toronto," Bavasi said he told Leshinsky.

"We're quite serious," Leshinsky responded. "Dick would really like to be part of Toronto's program."

Leshinsky, reached by phone at his Maryland office, confirmed that Allen's first choice was Toronto. "Peter and I were talking very informally, but we intend to continue discussions."

Bavasi said he stressed to Leshinsky that Toronto would have one set of rules for all its players. That means Allen, who detests spring training, would be expected to appear at the Blue Jays' opening practice session "at 10 a.m., not 10:01 and not 10:02," he said.

Pleasanton's Swim Team took a decisive 652-500 victory over Ohlone Saturday at Ohlone College in Fremont.

Five Pleasanton team records were set in the victory.

Suzette Moran won the girls' 10-and-under 50-yard breaststroke in 38.2. Lisa Peterson took the 10-and-under 50-yard freestyle in 30.4.

In the girls' 11-12 competition Lynsey Santin set a club mark with a 28.4 in the 50-yard freestyle.

Greg Remmert won the boys 13-14 age group 100-yard freestyle, setting a new record of 53.4. Kathy Cohan broke the club record in the girls' 15-18 200-yard individual medley with a 2:20.2 clocking.

The 10-and-under girls' 200-medley relay team of Michelle McAllister, Moran, Peterson and Chris Hoszpodar recorded a 2:17.2 clocking to pull within one second of the top 10 times in the nation.

Hoszpoder, Peterson, Moran and Jackie LeBreck swam to a 2:01.6 clocking in the 200-yard freestyle relay, also coming within one second of the nation's top 10 times.

Tom Wilson won three races (100-backstroke, breaststroke and 200-yard individual medley) to spark the 13-14 boys' division.

The boys' 13-14 200-yard medley relay and 200-yard freestyle relay teams recorded their fastest times of the year.

Other standouts for Pleasanton included Kathy Cohan, Kathy Thompson, Mike Murphy, Bob Peters, Chris Rock, David Bowker and Patti Daley.

These swimmers will lead Pleasanton in this weekend's competition at the 24th Livermore Aqua Rodeo, to be held at May Nissen Swim Center.

In a "B" meet last weekend Kim Remmert led the way for Pleasanton, taking a first and third and gaining an "A" time in the process.

Kim won the 100-yard individual medley in 1:17.6 for an "A" time. She also took third in the 200-yard individual medley in 2:46.5 in the girls' 11-12 age group competition.

Christine Benson and Suzanne Foss also took firsts in the 11-12 division. Foss won the 50-yard freestyle in 31.4 for an "A" time and Benson was the victor in the 200-yard individual medley with an "A" time 2:45.4.

Brad Harris of Pleasanton was a standout in the boys' 10-and-under division, taking a third and a sixth. He recorded a 33.2 "A" time in the 50-yard freestyle for third place. He also finished sixth in the 50-yard butterfly in 40.8.

Terri Hollister of Pleasanton was second in the girls' 13-14 division 200-yard butterfly in 2:40'6. She was also fifth in the 200-yard backstroke with a 2:46.7 clocking. Anne Marie Lara had two fifths, a 3:10.5 in the 200-yard butterfly and a 3:12.0 in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Sarah Johansen finished sixth in the girls' eight-and-under 50-yard freestyle in 40.8.

No progress in NFL labor talks

WASHINGTON — Representatives of the National Football League owners and of the players union met in private for four hours Tuesday in hope of resolving their longstanding labor problems. No progress was reported.

The two sides will meet again today in the latest of their stepped-up negotiations to come to a new collective bargaining agreement to replace the contract that expired Jan. 31, 1974.

The meeting was the fourth since the Super Bowl and both sides had expressed optimism that an agreement might be reached in the near future, especially since there is pressure because a federal judge ruled the college draft illegal.

The union contends there are at least seven issues on which the owners and the association still are far apart. The owners merely agreed that the two sides are closer on some issues than on others.

In Cleveland, Browns' owner Art Modell has said the two sides are not as close to agreement on a new contract as some published reports have indicated.

Modell said one basic requirement for the owners is to have "some restraint on player movement. All sports must have it and players should acknowledge it."

Before the meeting, Ed Garvey, executive director of the union, said most of the issues, such as a pension plan are "out of the way."

In addition to the draft, other issues cited by Garvey as being far from resolved are compensation on the Rozelle Rule, the right of a veteran to cancel a trade or ask for his release when placed on waivers, the commissioner's right to discipline players for off - the - field activities not affecting the integrity of the game, pre-season pay, the length of the season and injury protection.

Ford, who made a two-day appearance with Arnold Palmer as his partner in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am three weeks ago, will play one round each with defending champion Johnny Miller, veteran Billy Casper, Lee Elder and PGA champion Dave Stockton.

Portions of his round with Elder, along with host Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason, will be televised nationally Saturday by NBC-TV.

EBAL events rescheduled

would be if fuel costs became so high that it was expensive to warm them.

The public pressure that was responsible for five phone calls after one school turned its sprinklers on for two minutes to see if they worked was also in great part responsible for the closing of the local pools. "We aren't really putting any pressure on natural gas supplies," explained Ritz, and the PUC apparently agreed. At the meeting it was expected that the PUC would allow community and high school swimming pools to stay open.

"We have to assume our swim season is on," said Jim Henderson of San Ramon. "If we get an official ruling to shut it down, we'll take action there."

The final decision, however, will not come from the EBAL Board of Governors but from the superintendents of the three school districts. As one principal put it "If my superintendent says shut it down, I'll shut it down."

On the soccer issue the Board of Governors voted to a 4-4 tie. However, the board did leave open the possibility for any individual school to field a soccer team and Henderson, the chairman of the Board of Governors, said "I think each school that wants to field a team should go ahead. When we get four teams, I think we (the board) should consider it again."

California High School principal Ernie Berger voted against the motion, stating "I think a lot of the sports are going to end up in the community. I don't see any real reason to start up a sport when the community is already handling it."

All the soccer clubs in the valley provide girls' programs for those who are interested."

Granada's Jack Lee made the motion for the new sport and was joined by Monte Vista, San Ramon and Livermore in favor of girls' soccer. California, Amador Valley, Foothill and Dublin voted no.

The board also voted to change the dates and site of the league track meet. The governors voted to accept an offer from Chabot College to hold the meet on the all-weather track there with officials supplied by a track officiating class.

However, the original dates of May 10 and 12 were already filled at Chabot so the board moved the time back one day. The EBAL meet will now be held May 9 and 11 at Chabot.

Some changes were also made in the football all-star selection procedure. There will now be two wide receivers rather than a split end and a wide receiver since the difference between the two is nebulous at best. Also, the defensive team will be changed to three down linemen, two defensive ends, three linebackers and four defensive backs to reflect changes in high school defensive teams.

Two girls' schedules were revised to make the sports end earlier. The girls' tennis program will now start two weeks earlier (on March 22) and end with the league tournament on May 19. Softball had two games rescheduled so the league champion could play in the Acalanes Tournament of Champions, which is the forerunner of the North Coast Section championship that will begin in 1978.

The board also approved two more practice matches for boys' tennis, to bring the boys' schedule in line with the girls. Now both will be able to have three practice matches on top of the 14 EBAL matches.

Judy Steele appeared at the meeting to discuss problems in girls' officating. The board questioned the ranking procedure used by the girls' association, but Steele said they would rather not change.

A two-year contract was recommended for boys' officials with a four percent rate increase for referees and umpires.

Glads go for title

Chabot College's wrestling team, ranked first in California, meets second-ranked Palomar for the state dual-meet title at 7:30 Saturday night in the Gladiator gym.

Wrestling for Chabot, the defending state champion, are 158-pounder Kevin Dugan (ex-Dublin High ace) and heavyweight Ron Freeman from Granada High School.

Admission to the match is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Near tragedy at Albany

ALBANY — Jockey Leroy Rodriguez collapsed in the jockey's room shortly before Tuesday's second race at Golden Gate Fields.

Rodriguez had asked clerk of scales Leonard Stroud before the first race to be excused from his mount in the second race because of cramps. Rodriguez went upstairs to the jockey's quarters and passed out.

Albany Fire Department paramedics were summoned to the track where they found Rodriguez without a pulse and not breathing. The paramedics, along with track physician Dr. Edward O'Reagan worked on Rodriguez for several minutes before finally getting his heart to start beating.

Ore-Ida introduces french fries so crisp, they snap.

If you want french fries that are extra crisp, try new Ore-Ida Crispers.

Regular french fries merely bend.

But new Ore-Ida Crispers are so crisp, you can actually snap them.

That's because they're specially made for oven heating.

They have little ridges that lift them off your cooking sheet and let the heat circulate around them evenly.

So you get french fries that are probably crisper than any others you've eaten.

New Ore-Ida Crispers!

Snap 'em up.

Water cuts cream farmers, shoppers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Drastic cuts in irrigation water announced by federal water officials in California will clobber California farmers' pocketbooks and increase food prices around the country, a top state farm official said today.

Fred Heringer, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, said even a 10 to 12 per cent cutback in agricultural output is likely to accelerate supermarket prices faster than inflation in 1978.

The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation announced Monday the driest year of the century in California forced it to cut back many farmers' water by 75 per cent this year.

The giant federal Central Valley Project irrigates 2 million acres of cropland from Redding to Bakersfield. Earlier projections called for 25 to 50 per cent reductions.

Jerry King, spokesman for the federal agency, said California's agribusiness, worth $8.9 billion last year, could shrink from 10 per cent to 40 per cent.

"If you use straight figures, we would lose about 1 million acres that have been using water in the neighborhood of 2.5 million acre feet," Heringer said. "That's about 10 or 12 per cent of the total irrigated acreage."

Ralph Brody, general manager of the 500,000 - acre Westlands Water District, said Westlands ranchers will lose at least $130 million, and that the impact on California's economy could be a loss of $1.3 billion.

Brody said the water cutback will result in "reduction, if not elimination" of vegetable crops, which are heavy water users.

"We'll go to lesser - paying crops with less water demand, more grain crops. And some land will be idle," Brody said.

"A 75 per cent cutback means certainly not less than a 60 per cent reduction in farm income," Brody said.

Heringer added, "We could lose a lot of fruit and vegetables, feed and fiber. I just don't know what kind of figure to throw at you."

Heringer said he was worried that cuts in irrigation water could also mean shortages of hydroelectricity. "If we have brown cuts, and can't pump water, it will really be a disaster," he said.

Heringer said farmers will plant crops that use less water, change irrigation techniques and more recycling of the water.

But he said California's problems, not so much in 1977 but in 1978, will be felt nationally in higher prices. California produces 65 per cent of the nation's fruits and 40 to 45 per cent of the vegetables, he said.

"If we cut back on these products, there will be a real price rise in 1978, more than inflation," Heringer said.
